

Innovation Training Australia

Training in the skills of innovation and opportunity capture is what we do. We do it the world over as we have for well over a decade with ever new and improved material.

We have worked in some of the world's largest organisations in more than 26 countries. Our innovation training manual is now licensed in some 28 countries and our books translated into three languages, apart from English.

We do conference, keynotes, public speaking, seminars, workshops and innovation problem solving forums.

We also teach the special skills of "Opportunity Capture".

Our workshops are interactive with participants receiving handouts of the essential material that underpins innovation and the development of business opportunities.

Keynotes and conference session have no limit to the audience numbers with our largest attendance being over 5,000.

We have also delivered three TED talks on innovation and opportunity capture.

Not only do we conduct innovation training, but we take it further and assist in IP development and IP strategy, product development, marketing and the commercialisation of technology.

Innovation training is where it all begins, this is the input ingredient. The output however and the measure of our success is your revenue growth and more to the point your profit and the return on your innovation investment.

That's our success metric - your ROI on innovation.
